Four Promises of Forgiveness

Conflict resolution is something that is essential for a healthy community. The church is a community and we have nearly as many conflict situations as any non-religious group of people. In scripture we learn the value and practice of conflict resolution. Many scriptural narratives highlight this important action.

Along with conflict resolution, there is the need for forgiveness. Of course, forgiveness will not happen without the resolution of the conflict, but once the conflict is over, there will be emotional residue in the form of bitterness and anger. This is where forgiveness steps in. It begins with the example of God.

Through forgiveness God tears down the walls that our sins have built, and He opens the way for a renewed relationship with Him. This is exactly what we must do if we are to forgive as the Lord forgives us. We must release the person who has wronged us from the penalty of being separated from us. We must not hold wrongs against others, not think about the wrongs, and not punish others for them. Therefore, forgiveness may be described as a decision to make four promises:

"I will not dwell on this incident."

"I will not bring up this incident again and use it against you."

"I will not talk to others about this incident."

"I will not let this incident stand between us or hinder our personal relationship."

By making and keeping these promises, you can tear down the walls that stand between you and your offender. You promise not to dwell on or brood over the problem or to punish by holding the person at a distance. You clear the way for your relationship to develop unhindered by memories of past wrongs. This is exactly what God does for us, and it is what he calls us to do for others.

Sermon Summary

AM Speaker: Ben Cook

It Isn't Child's Play - Psalm 127:3-5

The Bible describes children as arrows in the hands of a warrior. I've shot arrows and I know for a fact that they don't go where they're supposed to. That's probably because I'm not an excellent archer. Greater skill, time, and attention is needed to launch an arrow and hit the bulls eye. Maybe you could argue that kids are the same. Most of us can have kids, but nurturing, teaching, and launching them is a lot harder. This morning we will go over some principles that will help your kids launch well.

PM Speaker: Dennis Baker

Nothing Good is Going to Come From This-1 Samuel 25:1-12

When we find ourselves in a difficult circumstance, we usually have options. We can choose to either react or act. That is the purpose for on-going Bible study. We are filling our minds and hearts with knowledge that we will draw on when needed. David had a desire to do what is right, but in this narrative, we see trouble coming.

Giving all praise and glory to God and thanking Him for bringing me this far... with a reasonable portion of my health and strength, and having 1 more chemo treatment left. Thank you for your prayers, cards, encouraging words, phone calls, and visits. Thank you and I love you all. Cheryl Tillman

Rex & Pat want to express their appreciation and thankfulness to the congregation for all that prayers, calls, and cards during Rex's back surgery. The surgery went well, the healing will just take some time. Our God is so good.

The Farnsworth's

I wish to thank everyone for your prayers helping me to get through my surgery. Praise the Lord, prayers are answered. Also, thank you to the Ladies Caring Ministry for your cards and prayers as well. Kathleen Black

Welcome Guests!

We're glad that you are here! We do have a staffed nursery available during Sunday morning service, for children up to age 3, if that is something that will be helpful to you. There is also a training room, located next to the sound room, for parents with small children to use during any service.

We hope that you experience the presence of God in our assembly. If you have questions, feel free to approach one of our ushers, ministers, or elders. Please fill out a visitor card, found in the back of our songbooks and drop it into the basket when it is passed by. Thank you!
